JAPS ARE HOSTILE OVER COLOR LINE

BLAT ON JUSTICE THAT WHITES ASSUME CONTROL OF THE WORLD SAYS JAPANESE LEADER.

By the Associated Press

YOKOHAMA.—(By mail.)—Failure of the peace conference at Paris to adopt Japan's proposal of racial equality was denounced by Marquis Okuma, former premier of Japan, in an address he delivered recently before the Japanese Civilization Society.

"It is a blot on justice and humanity that the whites, who constitute less than one-third of the world's population, assume the control of the world, and I declare that a justice and a humanity which do not recognize racial equality are scarcely worthy of the name," he said. "Germany has hitherto been a great influence in the world, and this influence is about to be replaced by Anglo-American influence which will produce a far reaching effect on the future peace of the world and the weal of mankind."

Concluding, Marquis Okuma said that the Japanese are considerably inferior to westerners in intellectual powers, physical strength and wealth, and they must show no hesitation in possessing themselves of whatever is required to make them the equal of others. He added:

"There is nothing wrong in securing development, morally, economically and socially. If the best efforts are made in these directions it will be hoped that no great difficulty will be experienced in surpassing the arrogant westerners and bringing them to their knees."

Aerial Cavalry Now Keeps Watch Over Mex. Border

By the Associated Press

EL PASO, July 18.—Aerial "cavalry" keep watch over the Mexican border in this district, patrolling the Rio Grande where horsemen ride their lonely patrols between outposts stations. Each morning, as the horse cavalry ride away to cover their beats big airplanes leave the Fort Bliss flying field for Columbus, N. M., on the west and Fort Hancock on the east to scout along the international border for bands of Mexican bandits. The aviators make daily reports to military headquarters on the same blanks used by the cavalry patrol officers and frequently report armed bands below the border.

The Mexican border is called the southern front by the aviators and Fort Bliss has been selected as the headquarters for the aviation section of the southern department. A flying field beyond Fort Bliss has been set apart for the use of the flyers, a bombing field selected at the government target range in New Mexico and wireless stations built at the fort and at landing fields along the border. Dirigible balloons will be stationed at Fort Bliss and other important points along the border and machine shops erected to repair airplanes damaged in the patrol service.

American army airplanes attracted much attention from the Mexican soldiers and civilians on the south bank of the Rio Grande. When the first plane to loop-the-loop was seen many Mexicans believed it to be falling and scurried for cover. The Mexican army has 14 planes at the northeastern zone headquarters at Chihuahua City and General Manuel Dieguez is planning to establish regular airplane patrols of the Mexican Central railroad as soon as it is repaired with a temporary aerial service between Chihuahua City and the border until the train service is resumed.

Evangelist Ham Tells How Lot Camouflaged Throughout His Life

Just one week last night the Ham-Ramsay revival began, and as is already well known the services have been held regularly and on time each morning and evening.

Dr. Hama is by far the most forceful and eloquent speaker the people in this section of the country have heard in the capacity of an evangelist and all the week he has been pounding away with all the earnestness of an army officer, at the fortifications that have been built in Ada by the devil for many years. He is a man of ability with a strong personality and is armed with a sincere conviction of the truths his splendid thinking qualities so plainly convey to his hearers, and altogether this is a forceful combination.

Compliments Local Men.

In opening the song service last evening the speaker took advantage of the moment to compliment the management of both the Hotel Harris and the Ada Evening News, admonishing the people to encourage both institutions.

He compared the Evening News to the Daily Oklahoman and Dallas News and the comparison was very flattering to the News.

After a splendid song service conducted by Mr. Ramsay, Mr. Ham began his two sermons for the evening by delivering a sermon in song. He sang "Looking on You" with all the earnestness and expression that he would use in delivering his most impressive lecture.

In his sermon, proper, he handled the life of Lot in such a way that even the Bible students present were given some inside light on the story. Many people know the story of Lot, and his wife who turned to salt, but those who heard the discourse last night will remember it after this as a very vivid and worth-while story.

The speaker showed plainly that Lot, tho believing himself a godly man, and posing as such, did not have the courage of his convictions and naturally could not influence his fellow townsmen nor his own immediate family and was forced to camouflage throughout his life time.

The Evangelist is honest; he is sincere; and he is right.

The services will continue for several weeks and the whole people are urged to attend.

Comfortable quarters have already been arranged for the care of the babies, and last evening an especial invitation was extended to the colored people to attend, and reservations have been arranged for them.

Another Backslider Dissected. Last night Evangelist Ham told the story of Lot as recorded in Genesis xiv:14. "And he seemed unto his sons-in-law as one that mocked." From this interesting story, running through the destruction of Lot's wife and two married daughters and their families along with the wicked city, and the fleeing of Lot and his two unmarried daughters to a cave for safety where they dwelt bereft of all earthly wealth and glory, the preacher deduced the following lesson:

One of the many respects in which the Bible is unlike any other book is that it tells of the weak and the evil side of its heroes. Abraham was one of the most nearly perfect of all God's servants. His faith in God stands out conspicuously in his great character; so that he became known as the Father of the Faithful. Yet when famine pressed sorely upon him in the land to which God had called him, he lost faith in God and gathered up his belongings and went down into Egypt. God had not called him to Egypt and he went there without consulting God about it. And every time one of God's children does that he gets into trouble. His beautiful wife attracted so much attention that he feared he would be killed to get him out of the way, so he lied about her, saying she was his sister. But after teaching him the lesson of affliction, God got him out of Egypt; for his lie was about to lead the king to take his wife, till God interferred. Not only did Abraham himself get into trouble in Egypt, but his nephew, Lot, there

INSIDE FACTS TO THREE SENATORS

MANY OF THE INTRICATE PEACE TREATY PROBLEMS EXPLAINED BY WILSON TO REPUBLICANS.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—How the Versailles conference reached many of the agreements embodied in the treaty of peace was described by President Wilson yesterday to three republican senators invited to the White House at the head of a long list of republican members whom he purposes to take into his confidence. Afterward one of his callers, Senator Colt of Rhode Island, said Mr. Wilson had been able to place the Shantung settlement in a new light and had clarified other disputed points in the treaty.

Senator McCumber of North Dakota and Senator Nelson of Minnesota who saw the president, were reticent as to the subjects discussed, but said the president had given them much interesting information. Senator McCumber is the only republican member of the foreign relations committee who has favored the league and it is understood Mr. Wilson talked over with him committee action on the republican side of the senate. Senator Nelson never has made a public declaration for or against the treaty. To all of his callers the president is said to have reiterated his opposition to reservations of any character in senate ratification of the treaty.

Old Landmark Folds Its Tent and Steals Away

The old two-story frame livery barn, erected on the corner of Main and Stockton in 1900, and for all these years a landmark familiar to every pioneer in this section, is now on wheels and is slowly moving down to Tenth street where it will continue to do service as of yore.

Standing in the middle of Main as it was this morning, it is a silent but conspicuous reminder of the growth of the city and the conquest of industry and development.

In its stead will be erected an elegant two-story brick business house, with the approach of which will come the extension of the business district of Ada more than a full half block to the west, for the carpenters and brick masons are clearing the south side of the block between Townsend and Stockton preparatory to filling it in solid with modern brick business houses.

In the early days the old barn was a rendezvous for bootleggers and craps shooters. Unbeknown to the proprietors of the place, oftentimes, and at other times with their consent, no doubt, the wily vender of the illicit liquid would meet his customer at the old barn by appointment and there exchange the same for coin of the realm.

The big loft, always perfumed with the odor of new mown hay, made a most desirable hiding place for "private stock," and many a long-necked bottle has been crushed on the cobblestones in the alley at the rear.

Many men now prominent in big affairs—who no longer associate with J. Barleycorn—will note the removal of this old landmark with interest and it will call up many reminiscences of other days.

It is said that this particular piece of property has changed hands more times than it has shingles on the roof. The truth of this statement was not verified.

IDAHO SENATOR CALLS UPON LEAGUE SUPPORTERS TO HELP HIM SECURE A REFERENDUM.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Proposing that the question of a league of nations be left to popular decision, Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, called upon the league supporters to join him in securing a referendum.

"The president," said Mr. Borah, "has been sending for senators and will, I understand, continue to do so until the quota is filled. It is a policy I endorse; I only regret that he began it so late in his administration. But it is not in accord with the tenets of republican government to settle so great a question behind closed doors either at the White House or anywhere else."

Thomas Is Skeptical.

"What I would do is send for the people, and the way to do that is to have a popular vote."

Senator Thomas, democrat, Colorado, asked whether the result of such a vote, if favorable to the league, would influence the course of Mr. Borah.

"If I should stay in the senate under those circumstances," replied Mr. Borah, "it would not. But there is such a thing as a senator retiring. Neither will these resolutions and petitions, manufactured and otherwise, that are coming to us, have the slightest effect on my course."

News censorship and propaganda.

Senator Borah asserted, are being used to deceive the masses both of Europe and America regarding actual sentiment on the league.

Lookout Hubbie! Whipping Post Is Coming Back

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 17.—Restoration of the whipping post by legislation for wife-beating husbands was urged in an address delivered yesterday before the convention of the newly organized National Federation of Professional and Business Women's clubs by Miss H. Anna Quinby, an attorney of Columbus, Ohio.

Miss Quinby's opposition to the leniency of present laws applicable to disgruntled and delinquent husbands is the outgrowth, she said, of incidents of recent occurrences in Columbus.

Delegates were urged to work for the re-establishment of the whipping post and the enactment of other legislation of particular interest to women.

BERLIN, July 18.—The Pan-German Zeitung, which stands close to former royal circles, takes a very serious view of former Emperor William's illness, calling it "deep melancholia." It is said that the former monarch is so depressed that the physicians consider his condition critical. Recently he has hardly left his apartment, and he seldom sees his closest friends. He displays "a high degree of nervousness."

BELGIAN STEEL CORPORATIONS FOLLOW AMERICA'S EXAMPLE

BIG CHICAGO STRIKE PARALYZES BUILDING

By the Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 18.—Over a hundred thousand workmen are idle and all building operations here are at a standing as a result of a lockout ordered by the executive committee of the Building Construction Employers' Association, which issued an ultimatum yesterday declaring that unless the carpenters, lathers and iron workers returned to work today operations would be definitely suspended. Strikers ignored the threat and refused to return and the association's order was the result.

ADA GROWING BY LEAPS AND BOUNDS

BUSINESS AND RESIDENCE DISTRICTS IMPROVED. GREATEST YEAR IN CITY'S HISTORY.

Ada is doing more improving in the year 1919 than she has done in any two years before, according to statistics and what business and professional men of the city say. More new places of business are being erected and more improvements are being made than ever before in the city's history.

The Oklahoma Portland Cement company have just about completed their new plant which makes it the finest west of the Mississippi and one of the best in the world. The plant is made of solid concrete and steel and will cost in the neighborhood of one million dollars. It is a wet process plant, made with the latest improvements to prevent waste, and when the new plant is finished it will be capable of turning out 4,500 barrels of cement daily.

The Harris Hotel is under new management and has one of the best hotel men in the country in charge. This popular hostelry is now enjoying one of the finest periods of success in its history. Other hotels are also enjoying periods of unprecedented prosperity.

Four new business buildings are in course of construction on East Main street, with contracts let for others. Work is progressing on the eleven new business houses on West Main. The number of new business houses erected on this street alone during 1919 will probably amount to 20. The total number of new business buildings in the entire city for this year will probably reach 50. This is enough business houses to make a good sized city alone, and yet they are only additions to the business life of Ada.

The East Central State Normal school has been granted a new building by the state to cost $100,000. Work will commence on this building soon. This will take care of another 500 pupils and the new building will place the East Central Normal in a class second to none in the state. The public schools of Ada are also making many improvements and a new ward building costing $50,000 is going up. Educational progress is keeping pace in every respect with the material growth of the city.

The city of Ada has the best water in the United States. It comes from Byrd's Mill, 20 miles south of the city, and for purity cannot be equaled. A movement is on foot at present to issue bonds to improve the water system, such as laying larger mains, etc., in order to get the streets ready for a paving program which is being inaugurated.

There are several streets in the city where the people have voted to lay concrete paving. One street is already being paved and as soon as the water system is improved to permit others will follow. Practically everybody has sidewalks in front of their homes and where they have not the walks are being laid.

Among the business concerns that have made extensive improvements this year are the Ada Ice and Cold Storage company which business had erected a large storage building; the Ada Mill and Elevator, the Ada Compress Company, the American Glass Casket company, several gins, the Osage Cotton Oil company, and numerous smaller concerns.

It is impossible to get accurate figures on the number of new residences built in Ada during this year. But each day reports of new buildings are coming in. The residences are going up in every section. Contractors and lumber dealers say there will be no less than 300 new residences built in Ada during the year 1919.

American Styles in Summer

In certain lines of women's apparel America has become independent of other countries in the production of styles and materials. In some things we are conceded to excel, as in the designing and making of tailored suits and shoes. We have been driven to depend upon ourselves in producing the bulk of the readymade underwear worn by women whose demands are peculiarly American.

The proportion of undergarments made of washable silks grows larger, and crepe de chine gains on fine cotton materials every day. There are several very good reasons for this, but the main one is the inborn love of luxurious clothes, especially in the matter of undergarments, which is rooted in the eternal feminine nature.

Hand stitching is the hall-mark of elegance on undermuslins, so that women who know how to sew for themselves have a great advantage over those who do not. But there is not much hand sewing or hand embroidery on manufactured underwear, which, nevertheless, contrives to be very dainty. The manufacturer who turned out the two envelope chemises shown here will not dread a comparison between them and their hand-made counterparts. They are just as effective and just as durable. It is in little details of finish that the hand-made garment gets beyond the limitations of machinery and cannot be exactly copied. The chemise at the left is of white silk with a crossbar of green. There is a yoke of plain silk, also a border about the bottom and bands over the shoulders made of it. Bows of narrow ribbon with their hanging ends finished with soft silk balls make fascinating and original finishing touches.

The lovely garment at the right is made of pale blue satin with heavy silk embroidery and real fillet lace to enrich it. The empire waistline makes it graceful. This is gathered in with satin ribbon tied in a bow with long loops and ends. The same models are not less beautiful or less elegant when made of fine cotton fabrics.

Looks Like Congress Means to Take Firm Hold On the Mexican Situation

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Congress will soon begin an investigation of the Mexican situation.

This became apparent when it was learned that the republican leaders had given their approval to the request of Representative Gould of New York for hearing by the house rules committee on his resolution providing for a joint inquiry by the senate and house.

Henry P. Fletcher, ambassador to Mexico, will be the first witness. Mr. Fletcher has consented to appear before the committee with the approval of the state department. The hearing will be public and some interesting revelations are expected.

Joint Committee Planned.
The Gould resolution provides for a "joint select committee" comprising three members of the senate and three members of the house. The following subjects will be investigated:

- 1—Economic, political and military relations of the United States with Mexico since 1910.
- 2—Conditions and incidents leading up to, concerned in, or responsible for such relations.
- 3—Treatment accorded Americans and other foreigners in Mexico and elsewhere as to their lives and property in Mexico since 1910.
- 4—To what extent the United States has obligated the people of this country for the collection, payment or liquidation of claims against Mexico.
- 5—Policy and activity of the United States in presenting and ment and murder of American citizens for loss of life and property by violence, confiscation, retroactive legislation or governmental activity in seeming violation of the tenets of international law since 1910, including measures taken and representations made to Mexico in effects of such acts or inimical measures of the Mexican government.

6—Individual and factional responsibility for robbery, maltreatment and murder of American citizens in Mexico and on American territory contiguous thereto.

The committee would have the power to sit anywhere in the United States or in Mexico and to send for and examine all public records and government officials, including cabinet officers.

Investigation Is Assured.
It was indicated by the republican leaders that while the Gould resolution may not be reported out of committee in its original form, a resolution drawn along its general lines will be reported and put through the house.

Mrs. John W. Correll, whose husband was killed by Mexican bandits near Tampico June 16, and her young son, Joe, have arrived in Washington. Mrs. Correll will personally lay her case before President Wilson. Mrs. Correll told the story of the attack on her home, the murder of her husband and the assault on her son and herself.

She was sent to Washington by the National Association for the Preservation of American Rights in Mexico. Her purpose in seeing the president is to urge him to insist upon punishment for the criminals and compensation for her from the Mexican government. Her home is in Ada, Okla.

Socialism Making Gains In Japan; Movement Not Confined to Workers Alone

Americans Help Russians Out of Bad Condition

By the Associated Press

PARIS.—(By Mail.)—Half a million Russians in Germany who formerly were prisoners of war have been lifted out of despondency within the last four months, partly by a course of training in American ideals, American sports and American spirit, said Major James A. Babbitt, of Philadelphia, when he returned recently from Germany on his way to the United States.

Major Babbitt is a professor in Haverford College and a member of the American Football Rules' Committee. He was chief of the Bureau of Medical and Surgical Relief for the American Red Cross in Germany and visited nearly all the camps where Russian prisoners were interned.

"We found the Russian war prisoners in a state of complete lassitude, mentally and physically," he said. "They had spent four years in the neglect and misery of German internment camps. It was enough to break the strongest man's spirit. Their own country had forgotten them and no word had come from their relatives and friends. There was no future in Germany nor hope of anything better in their own country. Hundreds of thousands of Russians who had fought valiantly for the allied cause were slowly dying from depression, mental inactivity and physical malnutrition."

"We put them to school like children. Athletic games were introduced into the camps and these stimulated the prisoners physically while motion pictures and other mental recreations brightened their dull hours. Their hospitals were provided with every needed medical and surgical requisite. The camps were organized under the command of the American army personnel."

They began to take on a new physical aspect and the men showed signs of returning life and courage. Although they at first regarded us with suspicion, this was soon changed and they looked upon us as friends. They formed camp committees which brought all their needs, grievances and fears to our attention.

TOKIO.—(By mail.)—Demands for more comfort for those who work for wages and that fewer privileges be granted to the rich are the fundamentals of a popular movement which is gathering form in Japan, and which is causing considerable uneasiness not only to the government but to representative Japanese in all spheres of activity. Socialism is attracting the interest of not only the working people but of men holding important places in the domain of education. This general movement is partly the reflex of the labor unrest in foreign countries and partly the result of a steadily growing revolt at home against the amassing of wealth by the few as against the poverty and hardship of the masses of the people.

Japanese socialists recently sent out manifestos to socialists in foreign lands asking for a formal recognition of the Japanese body which has been organized under the name, "Japanese Socialist Party." The socialist party of Italy sent a response conveying their willingness to recognize the Japanese socialists as their friends and co-workers. Sen Katayama, the pioneer socialist of Japan, is now abroad as the representative of his party at home.

The attempt to promote socialism, or a more radical doctrine, is being pushed now because of the awakening of the workers to what they regard as the evils of present economic and industrial conditions. The average Japanese workman is beginning to raise his voice for better pay and more freedom generally.

The central organization for working men in Tokio has addressed an open letter to the Home Minister, the president of the Chamber of Commerce and others, declaring that in case of war it is the working people of Japan who are called upon to defend its shores and asking whether it is the national policy of Japan to allow capitalists to fatten while the workers are starving.

Dr. Jikei Yokoi, of the Imperial University, in a public statement, says that democratic ideas long prevalent in the great cities, have recently spread among the rural population. They have particularly affected, he said, school teachers, members of the young men's associations and army reservists.

Many Japanese scholars are reported to be enthusiastically studying socialism. Laborers are openly interested and are often heard discussing the subject in street cars.

East Central Students to Give Musical Extravaganza On Normal Campus Tonight

Sometime before the opening of the summer term, President Gordon suggested to Miss Keller that all the chorus work of the summer be directed toward a patriotic program at the close of the term. Prof. Cruz was consulted about the matter and he was enthusiastic over the proposition. Consequently, three choruses, a women's, a men's, and a mixed chorus, and an orchestra were organized at the opening of the term. Music was ordered and a definite program outlined. It was planned to give the program in honor of East Central's men who answered their country's call in the great World-Peace War with the further hope that the concert would also mark the completion of the raising of funds for the Memorial Gateway. The latter part has not been realized, but the first part will be carried out.

The concert will begin promptly at 8:30 p. m. The first part of the program will be given by the orchestra. Then comes the national airs of Italy, Belgium, France, England, and America. The standard bearer dressed in the costume of his respective country followed by the rest of the program.

The goal that was named cannot be countermanded.

2. LA MARSEILLAISE—Rouget De Lisle.

Flaunt out, O Sea, your separate flags of nations!
Flaunt out, visible as ever, the various flags of signals!
But do you reserve especially for yourself, and for the soul of man, one flag above the rest.
A spiritual woven signal, for all nations, emblem of man elate above death.
Token of all brave captains, and all intrepid sailors and mates.
And all that went down doing their duty;
Reminiscent of them—twined from all intrepid captains, young or old;
A pennant universal, subtly waving, all time, o'er all brave sailors.
All seas, all ships.

3. RULE, BRITANNIA!—Dr. Thomas Arne.

Without extinction is Liberty! without retrograde is Equality!
They live in the feelings of young men, and the best women;
Not for nothing have the indomitable heads of the earth been always ready to fall for Liberty.

4. ITALIAN WAR HYMN—Alessio Oliveri. (The Garibaldi Hymn).

And thou, America!
For the scheme's culmination—its Thought, and its Reality,
For these (not for thyself), thou hast arrived.

5. THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER—Francis Scott Key.

The swarming ranks press on and on, the dense brigades press on;
Glittering dimly, toiling under the sun—the dust-covered ground.
In columns rise and fall to the undulations of the men,
With artillery interspersed—the wheels rumble, the horses sweat,
As the army resists advances.

6. THE AMERICANS COME!—Fay Foster. (An episode in France in the year 1918).

The beautiful and noble ship, with all her precious wealth, speeding away gaily and safe.
But O the ship, the immortal ship,
O ship of the ship! O ship of the ship of the soul
Voyaging, voyaging, voyaging.

7. THE UNION JACK—Stephens Adams.

The white tents cluster in camps—the arm'd sentries around—the sunrise cannon, and again at sunset.

Arm'd regiments arrive every day, pass through the city, and embark from the wharves;
War! be it weeks, months or years—

8. WE'LL NEVER LET OUR OLD FLAG FALL—M. F. Kelly.

Over the carnage rose prophetic, a voice:
Be not dishearten'd! Affection shall solve the problems of Freedom yet;
Those who love each other shall become invincible.
They shall make America completely victorious.
No danger shall balk Columbia's lovers;
If need be, a thousand shall sternly immolate themselves for one.

There shall be a new friendship;
There shall be innovations;
There shall be countless linked hands;
The most dauntless and rude shall touch face to face lightly;
The dependence of Liberty shall be lovers,
The continuance of Equality shall be comrades.
These shall tie you and band you stronger than hoops of iron.

9. AMERICA'S MESSAGE—Arthur Edward Johnstone.

I saw battle-corpses, myriads of them,
I saw the skeletons of young men—I saw them;
I saw the debris and debris of all the dead soldiers of the war;
But I saw they were not as was thought;
They themselves were fully at rest—they suffer'd not;
The living remain'd and suffer'd—the mother suffer'd;
And the wife, and the child, and the musing comrade suffer'd
And the armies that remain'd suffer'd.

10. SOULS OF THE RIGHTEOUS—T. Tertius Noble.

What whispers are these, O lands, running ahead of you, passing under the seas?
Are all nations commencing? Is there going to be but one heart to the globe?
Is humanity forming, en masse?—for lo tyrants tremble, crowns grow dim.
The earth, restive, confronts a new era.

11. SINK AND SCATTER, CLOUDS OF WAR—Arthur S. Sullivan.

From it and all henceforth expanding, doubting no more, resolute, sweeping the world.
Turn, O Libertad, for the war is over.
Turn from lands, retrospective, recording proofs of the past;
From the singers that sing the trailing glories of the past;
From the chants of the feudal world—the triumphs of Kings, Slavery, Casts;
Turn to the world, the triumphs of Liberty and to come—give up that backward world;
Leave to the singers of liberty—give them the trailing past;
But what remains, remains for singers for you;

Then turn, and be not alarm'd, O Libertad—turn your undying face,
To where the future, greater than all the past
Is swiftly, surely, preparing for you.

12. RING OUT, SWEET BELLS OF PEACE—Caro Roma.

Rise up—for you the flag is flung—for you the bugle trills;
For you bouquets and ribbon'd wreaths, for you the shores a crowding;
For you they call, the swaying mass, their faces turning;

13. WELCOME, HEROES OF RENOWN—Mendelssohn. (The Cornelius March).

Now, trumpeter, for thy close
Vouchsafe a higher strain than any yet;
O glad, exulting, culminating song!
A vigor more than earth's is in thy notes!
Marches of victory—man disenthralled—the conqueror at last!
Hymns to the universal God, from universal Man—all joy!

14. GLORIA IN EXCELSIS—Mozart. (Twelfth Mass).

The Covenanter Letters

Being a Discussion of the Covenant of the League of Nations by Eminent Men.

ARTICLES XI, XII, XIII.

The Basic Principle.

Article XI proclaims the great doctrine of the community of interest in the universal maintenance of peace. It contains the basic principle of the League, worked out in practical form by the other articles, that peace and friendly relations among nations are the concern of all free peoples; that these peoples are justified in protecting one another and in maintaining order in the world for the common good; and that international morality, fair dealing and respect for the rights of others are duties which every country owes to mankind, and which mankind is entitled to expect and demand.

Article XII embodies the substance of the agreement made by the Bryan treaties with a score of nations. It is the culmination of principles for which the United States has long stood. With a few exceptions, mostly of small countries, the United States has concluded such treaties with the states named in the Annex to the Covenant as admitted to the League, or has signed with them treaties which only await formal ratification; and the effect of this article is to cause them to make with one another the agreement for arbitration before war which we have negotiated with each of them.

Value of Delay.

This article, like the Bryan treaties, is based upon the idea that delay is in itself of great value quite apart from any compulsion to abstain from war after an award has been made. It removes the opportunity for a sudden attack upon an unprepared victim, and it gives a chance for a calm consideration of the consequences of war, instead of the rush of enthusiasm that comes when a nation is plunged into a conflict without reflection.

But the Covenant goes farther by attaching some compulsion to the award, or rather by protecting the nation which complies with its terms. By Article XII the members of the League must submit any dispute between them, likely to lead to a rupture, either to arbitration or to inquiry by the Council. If they agree that the case is suitable for arbitration they agree further by Article XIII to carry out the award.

Now by Article XXI of this Covenant it is provided that this shall not affect the Bryan treaties. But under those treaties the parties are not bound to carry out the award, and one may ask whether this article imports an obligation to do so. Clearly it does not, because those treaties cover controversies of all sorts, including such as the nations involved might not be willing to submit to arbitration with a duty of that kind attached. Nevertheless, the provisions of this Covenant certainly prevent a nation dissatisfied with an award under the treaty from going to war without submitting the dispute to inquiry by the Council. The Bryan treaties furnish therefore an additional means of reaching an accord, without impairing the guarantees of peace in the Covenant.

The second clause of Article XIII gives examples of the kind of questions deemed suitable for submission to arbitration. They are such as depend upon issues of law or fact, including the interpretation of treaties,—matters that can properly be decided by a court on strict legal principles. These have been termed justiciable questions, in contradistinction to those which are not purely legal but involve divergencies of national interests and policy, which are political in their nature and must be adjusted or compromised on grounds of international fair dealing and expediency.

Question of Jurisdiction.

These two classes of questions had better not be confused, but each referred to the body most appropriate for its consideration; but a difficulty may arise in deciding whether a question is justiciable or not. One of the parties may well claim an act performed or threatened by the other, while not strictly a breach of international law, is one which affects its vital interests or security, and that to submit the question to a tribunal to decide on purely legal grounds is to abandon its claim. If Turkey, for example, had proposed before the war to transfer to Germany a tract of land near the Suez Canal, England would have no legal right to prevent it, but it would have been an act to which she would have been justified in objecting, and her objection would have been sustained in an international council, although not by a court of law. In Anglo-Saxon countries, where courts are in the habit of deciding questions of their own jurisdiction, it would seem natural to authorize the judicial tribunal of the League to decide whether a question is justiciable or not; but on the Continent of Europe the ordinary courts of law have, as a rule, no such power. In those countries there are habitually two classes of courts; one to decide questions of private law between citizens, and the other to decide cases in which the duties of administrative officials, or the interests of the government are involved. When a difference of opinion on the question of jurisdiction arises between these courts, it is decided by a Court of Conciliators composed of members drawn from both. If a nation does not suffer its own courts of law to determine their jurisdiction, one can hardly expect that it would allow an international tribunal to do so.

For this reason the Covenant of Paris, while making plans for a judicial tribunal and setting up a Council of statesmen, does not provide that all justiciable questions shall be submitted to the first and all other matters to the second, but allows any state to claim in effect that the question is not justiciable and to require its reference to the Council. This is not the best arrangement conceivable, but it is far better than having no method of settling disputes except military force.

CORPORATION COMMISSIONER LOOKS INTO THRESHING RATES

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 18.—(Special.)—Corporation Commissioner R. E. Echols, has just returned from a trip through the western and southwestern part of the state, made in the interests of the farmers and to obtain assurance that they were not being overcharged in the matter of threshing rates. There had been rumors of a conspiracy of threshers in one county, but Commissioner Echols found that this rumor was unfounded and that the threshers and farmers had come to an amicable agreement in that section.

Similar investigations will be, however, pursued in other sections of the state.

"It is the intention of the Commission," said Mr. Echols, "to protect the farmers of Oklahoma in the matter of threshing rates. I am having quiet investigations made in various parts of the state in order to ascertain the exact situation. All complaints made to the Commission along this line will be promptly handled. I do not know that any attempt will be made to charge too high rates, but with the big crops this year, there will be a temptation. We intend to protect the farmers in threshing rates, elevator rates and every other way possible, so that they will realize the profits from their crops which they so richly deserve."

Warner's Rust-Proof Corsets—

How to Wash Corsets

WATER will not hurt a Warner's Rust-Proof Corset. You can wash it like any lingerie. The fabrics are in no way affected by good hard scrubbing and all metal parts are rust-proof.

Here's the easiest way to do the washing.

Immerse the corset in lukewarm water until thoroughly wet. Place the corset on a washboard and scrub with good soap and a stiff brush. Rinse the corset and hang it out on the line until dry. Iron if you like.

Before washing it is always a good plan to remove the hose supporters, as much washing will kill the elastic. You won't need to remove the boning, it's all rust-proof.

Suppose there were no more Advertisements

Just imagine for a minute that some power could stop all advertising. How would that affect you?

It would cut you off from all direct, commercial news about things you need and use in your every-day life. Somebody might be selling a new, better, more economical food; or a utensil that would save money and time; or an article that would add greatly to your comfort and well-being; or some better material for making shoes or clothing—but you would never know it.

Merchants and manufacturers would be unable to tell you about new and better things. They would thus find it hard to put these things on the market, and often would not try.

Merchants, unable to tell you what they had to offer you, could not take the risk of buying goods for which they might have no customers.

"It pays to advertise." And advertising pays not only the advertiser and publisher, but PAYS YOU TOO. It keeps you informed about the things you need in order to live a profitable, happy and useful life in this age of progress.

LET US HAVE THE WATER!

The low water pressure, the actual water scarcity and the inadequate water main facilities of Ada may not be alarming to the citizen favorably located and who is getting all the water he needs, but the great per cent of the people who live west of the Katy tracks, and in one of the best resident sections of the city, are beginning to realize that something must be done and that at once.

The city commissioners report that the engineer will have the plans here within the next few days for a waterworks system that will be adequate to take care of a city of thirty or forty thousand people—adequate, in fact, to carry and consume the entire Bird's Mill supply—but that is only part of the story.

The other part of the story is the cool, calm fact that the people of this city must make up their minds to vote bonds sufficient to install this system, and it must be done at once if a great part of our inhabitants are not to suffer at once and the whole city suffer, standstill and stagnate sooner or later.

We are not informed as to what the plan and estimate is going to call for in the way of a cash outlay—which cash outlay must be raised by a bond issue—but we do know that the people of this city are going to have to face the music, no matter what it costs, if we are going forward and make the progress which we now have the opportunity of making if the people will put their shoulders to the wheel and go after what rightfully belongs to them.

Ada, unlike the great majority of young, thriving cities, has never strained her bonded indebtedness privilege. She has made most phenomenal strides without burdening herself with debt. At the same time nothing would be better for her at this most important stage in her career than to bond to the limit on those things that will soon place her where bonds will not be needed at all.

Fifty blocks of paving is waiting on the installation of adequate waterworks mains beneath the streets on which the paving is proposed. The people are converted to the economy of paving. Surely they will not balk at the only thing that stands in the way of that much needed improvement by opposing a bond issue for the construction of an adequate and permanent waterworks system.

By all means let us get up and at this job and get it well under way before the bad weather of the coming winter sets in.

One more long, straight pull, all together, and Ada is over the top as a city—the best city in the Southern district!

THE BOY SCOUTS FOR ADA.

The information has not before been given publicly, for the reason that it was thought best to wait until plans were nearer perfection, but Ada is going to follow the example of other progressive cities of the country and put the Boy Scout movement over in proper style.

The Lions Club is behind the enterprise and has been working on the matter for three weeks or more.

The plan contemplates a complete organization with every equipment that goes with it; a first class scout master that will be employed by the year and on the job all the time; the erection of a five thousand dollar scout hall, located, most likely, in Glenwood Park, and a revenue provision that will take care of the expense and make the movement permanent.

Plans are just about ready to be made public, and when they are we are sure they will meet the approbation of every citizen of Ada who realizes the necessity of taking the youth of the community in hand and preparing them for the responsibilities which they are soon to assume as the successors of the business men of today.

Let us all get ready to give the Boy Scouts a boost when the time comes for action.

In recent years the advocates of government ownership of railroads, telegraphs, telephones and other public utilities had gained a considerable following in this country until within the past year during which the current of public opinion on this subject has turned and is now running strongly in the opposite direction. This reversal of public sentiment is neither whimsical nor inconsiderate but is the logical consequence of the unsatisfactory results that have accrued from our government's management and operation of the railroads, telegraphs, telephones and express business.

One of the biggest things the city of Ada could do at the present time would be to properly improve Glenwood Park. Let us have one real, honest-to-goodness park and stop at that until we grow some more.

The State Press

Shawnee News: Texas is at it again. Not satisfied with ousting Ferguson and thus giving Hobby his chance, a movement is now on foot to take the governorship away from Hobby.

Shawnee News: Marvin Brown of the Ada News has just given a good exemplification of the influence of the press. Single handed he took up the Correll case a few days ago and now comes word from Washington that Mr. Wilson is taking the matter up personally with Mexico.

Might Also Learn Tamale Making. Muskogee Times-Democrat: It is suggested that we exchange professors with Mexico as we did with Germany. They could furnish us professional bull fighters and we could furnish them professional bull slingers.

Alvin York, U. S. A., Retired. Drumright Derrick: Attempts to exploit Alvin York, the "greatest hero of the war," who captured a whole German battalion single handed, have failed.

He and his bride were to receive many honors at the hands of his state, and then were to be taken in a sumptuous private car to the Rotarian meet in Salt Lake. But York refused to go, saying that all this hero worship which was to be heaped upon him "is only a snare of the devil, and unbecoming to an elder of the church." So he and his mountain girl are going back to their mountain cabin to live simply and cleanly, preaching and practicing old-fashioned religion in their daily lives.

And who shall say that they were not wise? What has the big, showy, noisy, acclamating world to offer Alvin York one-half so wholesome, so lasting and satisfactory as the life he will find in his native hills?

The nation had cause to be proud of this brave man who was sent to Europe to kill Germans and who therefore made killing Germans his business; but it has just as much cause to be proud of the sturdy independence and the deep religious feeling which make him turn aside from all its pomp and flattery to the simple things he knows make for happiness and peace.

Ye Editor Pins a Medal Upon His Chest.

Crede (Colo.) Candle: The Candle Editor does not believe in bragging—when he's sober. However, the arrival of an eight and one-half pound baby boy at his home last Sunday is an awful temptation. We are perfectly willing to give the Mrs. full credit for her share in the epoch-making event, and we congratulate the doctor and nurse for their good luck in officiating upon such a momentous occasion. Some people give considerable credit in such cases to a wise old bird, called a stork, but by Gosh, we don't. We're some bird ourself, we'll say we are.

Court News

Mayor Kitchens reports no news in his department this morning. He says the Ham-Ramsay revival has put the police court out of business. However, he does not propose to sue the evangelists for damage.

Rhoda Lockhart has sued her husband, Sam Lockhart, for divorce. She is represented by Attorney B. C. Wadlington. She claims in her petition that she was fooled into marrying Lockhart by him representing himself as a single man. Later she found out he had a living wife, from whom he was not divorced. She states that the last time she heard from him he was at Fort Worth, Texas, but that she does not know his whereabouts.

The three men arrested Monday night on a charge of robbing Ernest Humphries at the Katy depot were brought before Justice H. J. Brown this morning. They were placed under bond of $100 each, and not being able to make the bond the men were remanded to jail. The men are Ernest Delaney, of Temple, Oklahoma; the one-legged carpenter, W. H. Rector, of Everywhere, and Tom Martin, one-armed blacksmith, whose address is the same. Their trial will come up next Wednesday.

T. M. Rains has entered suit in district court for divorce against his wife, Letha Rains. They live in the Bebee country. The petition states that they were married October 15, 1905, since which time they have lived together as man and wife. Three children have been born to the union, Reba, aged 10, Loren 8, and Lester, aged 4. Mrs. Rains, the petition says, for the past few years has ceased to love her husband, and has called him all manner of vile names, which he cannot bear. Things grew from bad to worse until she finally left him and would no longer live with him. Rains had his wife arrested some time ago for consorting with one Bias Sweat, but on advice of friends the case was not tried. Sweat, it seems, has continued to meet Mrs. Rains, and Mr. Rains thus tries to end his marital infidelity by having the bonds of matrimony severed. He asks for custody of the three children, stating that Mrs. Rains is no fit woman to look after them.

EX-PRESIDENT OF HUNGARY TRYING TO LEAVE COUNTRY

By the Associated Press. BERLIN, July 18. — Count Michael Karolyi, former president of the Hungarian republic, has arrived in Italy after several unsuccessful attempts to leave Hungary, and will go to America, according to a Vienna dispatch to Kreutz Zeitung.

Ham Hammers Church Members In Morning Talk

Today's audience at the Tabernacle revival was the best day crowd in attendance since the meetings began. Rev. Ham, the evangelist, gave a Bible reading he entitled, "New Things" and talked in a most suggestive manner to the people of the churches of the city. He said:

"The dispensation in which we live began with the Cross of Calvary. From that event on, all things have become new, and old things have passed away. The dispensation of grace was not revealed in the Old Testament. It had much to say concerning the establishment of the Heavenly kingdom on the earth, and even the disciples to the last were quarreling as to which one of them should have the highest seats in the kingdom. Many of you are in ignorance concerning the gospel of grace, but are saved in spite of your ignorance. The revelation of salvation by grace was revealed to Paul.

"The saved are new creatures and belong to a new creation. Satan has always blinded men's eyes to this idea, because he hates such teachings with the bitterest hatred.

"The way some of you church members behave I know they never were born again and don't know what I am talking about. You may be true to the pet doctrine of your church and at the same time false to Christ. When you read the Bible you read it to find support for your favorite doctrine. Heaven is the native home of the sons of God, and they ought not to become naturalized down here. But many of you are so conformed to the world, that you have to tell people you are a Christian. Conformed to the world, you are untrue to God.

"God's people partake of the nature of God. Christ does not live in the hearts of church members who are carnal. New creatures have a new standing and a new standard. They have a new sufficiency and that is in the Holy Spirit. We fight a losing battle when we fight the devil without this sufficiency in the Holy Spirit. We have also a new service when we become new creatures in Christ. In like manner we have a new rule of life."

Ada Playhouses

LIBERTY.

Fred Stone is presented today in "Johnny Get Your Gun." It's a Paramount-Arterraft special. This a good comedy and pleasing all the way through. The theater is cool and inviting. Our shows always please the most fastidious.

AMERICAN.

McSwain is to be congratulated on bringing to Ada such plays as was shown at the American last night. Everyone enjoys Nazimova, but never did she appear here in such a delightful film as "Toys of Fate," in which she assays the principal role. Her acting of the part of Zorah, the daughter of the Gypsy fiddler, was superb. The plot was deep-laid and enthralling. The attention of the audience is gained at the first rise of the curtain and held through out. Nazimova was backed up by an excellent company, the man playing the part of the rich betrayer being equal to the Madam. If you have not already seen this picture you have another opportunity tonight and you will never regret it if you attend. Elsie Ferguson is coming tomorrow in "The Marriage Price."

COUNTY COURT IS TRYING CIVIL CASES

The county court has been engaged for the past twenty-four hours in trying civil cases. Several cases were disposed of by continuance, and yesterday the court took up the case of Waples-Platter Grocery company vs. Watson Bros., et al. This case went to the jury this afternoon.

The case on trial at the hour of going to press was an appeal case styled W. J. Ricketts vs. H. G. Williams.

GERMANS ATTEMPT TO KILL MAYOR COCKRIEL

By the Associated Press. COBLENZ, July 18.—Two Germans attempted last night to assassinate Maj. George Cockriel, provost marshal of the American forces in Germany. Major Cockriel was not injured, and the Germans escaped after firing several shots.

Normal Notes

A number of pupils will withdraw at this week-end to take up their summer schools in different places over the district.

The evangelists, Messrs. Ham and Ramsay, will be at the Normal tomorrow morning at the chapel from 8:30 to 9:30. This is the first time the evangelists have spoken at the Normal and their coming is looked forward to with much interest.

The picture show at the Normal this week was given yesterday afternoon so as not to interfere with the revival meeting now going on in Ada. The picture this week was one concerning geography and gave pictures of South America and other places. It was very interesting and instructive.

The attendance at the Normal yesterday reached the desired total of 900. Miss Mildred Kerr of Ada was the pupil to bring the total to that number. This makes the attendance larger than at any previous term except the summer of 1916 when the total reached 925. The faculty is proud of the enrollment they have had this year.

Tennis, both singles and doubles, closed with great finals matches. In singles, Durham of Holdenville, opposed Whit Fentem, local player. The match went to limit of five sets the score being 6-4; 4-6; 6-4. It was very close throughout, first one contestant leading and then the other. Doubles was by Swartz and Durham opposed by Fentem and Jimmie Stotts. Score 6-3; 6-1; 6-2.

It was intended to have the musical program to be given by Miss Keller's classes tonight given on the lawn at the north of the building but on account of the rain coming today the program will be held inside. There is no charge to this entertainment and a large number of the citizens of Ada are expected to attend. This is said to be the best program of its kind ever given in the city and there is no doubt of its complete success. The program in full is printed elsewhere in this issue of the News.

There are thirty-five members in the graduating class of the Normal this term. The exercises will be held on Thursday, probably extending from the afternoon into night. The class is composed of the following members: Cora Ballard, Elizabeth Brown, Nina Mae Britt, Esther Collier, Emaline Collins, Mary Cowart, Elsie Crews, Vera Daggs, Mrs. Nora D. Foster, Ethel Gaar, Helen Garreta, Armelia Gray, Zella Hafner, Ollie Flo Hall, Lula Ingram, Mrs. Marie Islinger, Mildred Kerr, Beulah Klutts, Alma Lane, Oma Laird, Mamie Mears, Mrs. Eva Miller, Erar Ruth Nolen, Oscar F. Oldham, Bernice Rayburn, Myrtle Roberts, Mrs. Martha Sammons, Della Sherman, Gladys Stotts, Oather Van Meter, Doris Vertrees, Lloyd Watson, Esther Wood, J. A. Word.

THE TOWN GOSSIP

By MILTON LESTER

HE CAME in.
AND INTRODUCED himself.
AND WANTED to know.
IF HE could talk to me.
FOR A few minutes.
AND I told him.
TO GO ahead.
AND HE pulled out.
A MAGAZINE.
AND STARTED in.
TO TELL me.
ITS GOOD points.
AND FINALLY said.
THAT THE subscription.
WAS ONLY $1 a year.
AND I told him.
I DIDN'T want it.
AND HE put up his hands.
TO HIS ears.
AND ASKED me to repeat.
AND I did.
BUT HE shook his head.
AND APOLOGIZED.
FOR NOT being able.
TO HEAR me.
AND SAID.
HE WAS very deaf.
AND I tried again.
BUT IT was no go.

AND HE went on.
TO TELL me.
ABOUT THE magazine.
AND I hollered out.
REAL GOOD and loud.
THAT I didn't want it.
BUT HE only smiled.
AND SAID:
"YES, INDEED.
"IT'S GOT plenty.
"OF FINE pictures."
AND I saw.
IT WAS hopeless.
AND THAT he'd stay.
UNTIL I paid him.
THAT DOLLAR.
SO I went ahead.
AND DID it.
AND SINCE then.
I'M WILLING to bet.
THAT THE company.
THAT TURNS out.
THE MAGAZINE.
HIRES DEAF men.
ON PURPOSE.
AND COME to think about it.
IT SURE is.
A FINE scheme.
I THANK you.

Within the last few weeks the noise from construction work in Ada has been so disturbing that the business man on every side has to pull down his windows and shut the doors in order to hear himself think. And when parties from the more peaceful districts of the city call, by phone, they cannot understand just why their friends have so suddenly become deaf and dumb—but it is no fault of theirs, that they cannot hear when hemmed in by so many hammerings and knocks, caused by the carpenter, which are only signs of the coming growth and prosperity of a humming and thriving city.

Many times you will find a month's good reading in one of these bundles. Come in and get one.

ADA AVIATOR MAKES RECORD FOR ALTITUDE

The following article about Chas. C. Chauncey of Ada is taken from the Cleveland, Ohio, Plain-Dealer of July 12:

"Washington, July 12.—An experimental flight for altitude at night was conducted at Carlstrom Field, Arcadia, Florida, at 10 p. m., Thursday. Lieut. Charles C. Chauncey, in a La Pere, with Sergt. Thomas Cook as passenger, reached an altitude of 20,000 feet without difficulty.

"The weather was clear and the thermometer in the rear cockpit registered 5 degrees below freezing. "The duration of the flight was 85 minutes. At 10:05 p. m., the two airmen observed a second sunset."

MONTANA, IDAHO AND WASHINGTON ON FIRE

By the Associated Press

SPOKANE, Wash., July 18.—Every available man in western Montana, northern Idaho and eastern Washington is being employed by the federal forest service and private forest protective associations to fight forest fires in Montana and Idaho that today were threatening two western Montana cities and a million feet of standing white pine. Between 700 and 1,000 acres in the Helena forest are burning, threatening Atherton and Stregis.

Prayer Meeting Announcement.

There will not be any more prayer meetings, until next Tuesday. You will find the announcements in Monday's paper. But, ladies, let us not cease to pray as we go about our daily tasks that the Heavenly Father will show us, and help us to get rid of everything in our lives that doesn't harmonize with His will, that we may be instrumental, under His direction, in influencing our own families, friends, and even those who do not know us, who are watching our actions, to love and serve Him whom we love. Please notify your district secretary the number present at your prayer meetings each day so it can be announced—not for show, but to honor Him. When others see that we are interested they become interested. Any suggestion will be appreciated.—City Chairman.

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Advertising will develop the dormant demand for the goods on the shelves of merchants and in the warehouses of manufacturers.

Mr. Merchant and Mr. Manufacturer, the public wants and needs the things you have to sell and is willing to pay for them.

Tell your story through the medium of well prepared advertising. Talk to thousands through your local press instead of standing idly by and waiting for something to "turn up."

Now, more than ever before, advertising offers greater assurance of profitable returns to live, wide-awake, progressive merchants and manufacturers who employ it.

The message of the Department of Labor is: Advertise—increase your advertising—so that selling costs may be reduced and ultimately prices will follow in reduction.

A Mexican Newspaper's Description of a Real Bull Fight, Staged July 4th

By the Associated Press

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., July 18.—They toyed in approved matador fashion with the first five "ferocious" bulls, those toreros in the prize ring at Matamoros, Mex., on July 4th, but when the sixth and last bull flashed into the fray, the fight became replete with blood-chilling thrills.

It was at the Plaza de Toros Rodolfo Gaona, where ringside seats brought three dollars each, that the classic was staged. It rained slightly early in the exhibition, and the slippery arena caused the goring of two principals—aside from the bulls. Here is the ringside account of the affair, as printed in a local newspaper:

Jose Ramirez Goanita, 19-year-old matador, was gored in the ribs and again in the back of the neck by the sixth bull. He was painfully injured and will be scarred for life, but will recover.

Gaonita, who has named himself after Rodolfo Gaona, the king of the Spanish matadors, is young at the game. At present he has more courage than experience, but he is regarded as a promising youngster. On the last bull he tried a trick that Gaona has made famous; leaning over, half-facing the bull, turning as to wish the cape behind him, and standing stock still while the bull takes the cape with his horns.

Some spectators say that the bull stepped on one of Gaonita's heels and threw him; others say he slipped on the wet ground. At any rate he staggered, lost one show, and the bull's sharper horn went into his ribs through the folds of the cape, wound around him.

Gaona went down, and, following the toreros' custom, lay perfectly still. Then he apparently thought the bull had been content away, for he turned his head to look up. The bull lunged at his head, caught the back of his neck with the blunter of his two horns, and tore through the muscles at the base of the skull, severing them. If the sharper horn had caught him instead of the blunt and splintered end of the other, Gaonita would not be alive today. As it is he may have a stiff neck for life.

Area, one of the banderilleros, had his girl in a box seat and he made a graceful and daring act of the banderillero planting each time, showing for her. But the same sixth bull got him when he slipped on the wet ground. He had made a good job of putting the darts into this bull's shoulders, but just when he was ready to retire the bull came at him. He started for the barrier, slipped and went down. He lay perfectly still and the bull let him lie.

When the bull's attention was directed elsewhere Area crawled toward the barrier and then tried to skin over it. The bull was a little too quick for him and helped him over the fence with a wicked uppercut. The horn sank in four or five inches, apparently, and it looked like Area has been badly gored. He was out and around Saturday, however, with only a limp and a future scar as a souvenir.

The first four bulls brought into the ring died like respectable beef steers. The fifth was so thin and flimsy that the crowd hissed and catcalled him out of the ring and spared him for a gentler death or a later fight. The sixth and last made a grand-stand finish of the corrida and sent the crowd away shivering with excitement, which is, after all, the purpose of a bull fight.

MAN LOSES HUNDREDS OF DOLLARS IN MONEY

"I am sorry I did not hear of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy a few years ago, as it would have saved me several hundred dollars. Five years I suffered from indigestion and severe bloating. I grew worse all the time. My doctor said an operation would be all that could save me. I took a course of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy instead and for the past year have been entirely well." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.—Gwin & May Drug Co. and druggists everywhere.—Adv.

DAUGHTER'S ILLNESS MADE FATHER WORRY

MISS BREWER FELL OFF TILL SHE WEIGHED ONLY 98 POUNDS.—TANLAC MAKES HER WELL AND HAPPY.

"I firmly believe if it hadn't been for Tanlac I wouldn't be here today," said Miss Ethel Brewer, of 211 Pearl St., East Chattanooga, Tenn.

"I suffered so terribly with indigestion that I just had to live on milk and the white of eggs. I had vomiting spells and the gas in my stomach would make me miserable. I lost weight and strength till I only weighed 98 pounds and could hardly get about.

"After taking a few bottles of Tanlac the misery in my stomach completely disappeared. I am not nervous any more, and sleep at night like a child. I have gained fifteen pounds and feel well and strong in every way. My father says my illness caused him no end of worry, but that is all over now and I am glad to let others know how much good Tanlac has done me."

Tanlac is sold in Ada by Gwin & Mays Drug Co.—Adv.

BIG REVIVAL DRAWING GREAT CROWDS DAILY

From the Ada Star-Democrat: The Ham-Ramsay revival campaign will enter its second week tonight and the interest in the meeting manifest before the first service was ever held now has the country about Ada in a tense grip. Some of the largest crowds ever seen in a public meeting in this part of Oklahoma have been in evidence, and both interest and congregation are steadily increasing.

The largest crowd that has yet greeted the evangelists assembled last Sunday evening. There were people present from every town within twenty miles of Ada, and many hundreds of people from the country. The tabernacle, which will seat 5,000 people, was more than filled. All the other services have been largely attended.

Evangelist M. F. Ham is one of the country's greatest preachers. His style is altogether different from what the public expected. It was predicted that he would follow the beaten paths of other evangelists and seek to draw crowds by sensational methods, but in this respect he has proven a very pleasant surprise. He is almost old fashioned in his presentation of scriptural truths, and relies solely on a logical appeal to the intelligence of his hearers to convince them and change their views. No stronger pulpit orator has ever appeared in Oklahoma and he has not yet failed to thrill his congregation by the power of his eloquence.

The sermon that has won most comment was delivered Sunday evening from the text "The fool has said in his heart there is no God." Talking from this familiar passage the preacher proved that all nature's works show the existence of a supreme being. He drew on all the different works of nature from the ripening corn to the paths of the stars for illustrations to show that all things are the result of design and not of accident, and that this harmony proves the existence of a higher power. He attacked the nebular hypothesis and convinced his hearers of many of its absurdities.

The congregational music is led by W. J. Ramsay who is to the choir what Evangelist Ham is to the pulpit. He is a most appealing singer and easily fills the choristers with his own happy zeal. Moreover, he is an entertaining talker and is of wonderful assistance to the evangelist in helping out in a pinch.

Hereafter the business men of the city will close one hour each morning in order that everyone may attend the morning service. This will augment the interest that already obtains and further enlarge the congregations. The local pastors and local churches are working enthusiastically for a most successful revival and hundreds of citizens who are not affiliated with any church are lending every assistance.

The services will continue till the 18th of August—five weeks yet—and with the grip the meeting already has on the public it is safe to predict that the Ham-Ramsay revival will prove the greatest ever held in this section of Oklahoma.

OKLAHOMA TO PRESERVE VITAL STATISTICS

By the Associated Press

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 18.—Commissioner A. R. Lewis, of the state department of public health, today announced the inauguration of a campaign to perfect the system of registering births and deaths in Oklahoma. Vital statistics records of this department are at present only about 60 per cent correct.

In order that a state may be admitted to the federal registration area, from which all United States data is compiled, the records must be at least 90 per cent correct in all precincts in the state which is a candidate, according to Dr. Lewis' announcement. To achieve this aim within the coming two years is the aim of the Oklahoma department.

According to a letter mailed today to all county health officers there was an improvement of thirteen per cent in returns of death records during 1918 but there are only 17,581 deaths reported when there should have been approximately 26,000.

The department estimates roughly that only 50 per cent of births were registered.

Of the 30,026 births reported for 1918 to Dr. Lewis, there was a difference of less than a thousand in favor of the male population. These reports, given out today, gave the preponderance in boy babies as 930.

Of the year's births 15,478 were boys and 14,548 girls.

What the war had to do with these figures may only be conjectured but the fact remains, according to Dr. Lewis, that the results in previous years were the reverse. The figures are for whites only, the negro and Indian birth statistics being about one-third complete.

If figures given out today by Commissioner Lewis are any criterion, the Indian is losing ground in Oklahoma. Dr. Lewis' figures, only partially complete, indicate that last year only 606 Indians were born in the state, while 679 died.

Of the Indian births, 248 were full-bloods, 352 Indian-white and 6 Indian-negro. Only two sets of twins were born to Indian families and no triplets or quadruplets.

The dispatches state that a southern editor has just built a $20,000 residence. We believe it is a lie. No list of subscribers on earth ever paid up that good.

GERMANS BUY FOOD FROM OUR SOLDIERS

By the Associated Press
COBLENZ.—(By mail.)—Civilians in the American occupied area of Germany have been buying nearly a million marks worth of food daily during the last few weeks from the United States army supplies. The amount sold thus far totals 40,000,000 marks. Germans in Treves and Coblenz have organized a non-profit association which deals with the Inter-Allied Military Commission on Food, the supplies being distributed to the consumer through the retailers who are allowed a limited profit on all sales. Such staples as bacon, rice and canned milk were at first sold to the Germans by the commission of experts' reports that the poorer classes, especially the women and children, were in need of certain foods. Later, when thousands of American soldiers were homeward bound, the commission decided to open certain stores of the army to the Germans, owing to the fact that there was more food on hand than the army had use for.

Much of the food is brought to the occupied area from the army depots in France, the Germans buying at a small profit to the American army, plus the transportation charges from the United States. To date food valued at more than forty million marks has been sold to the civilians of the American occupied zone, all from army stores.

SOMETHING NEW FOR OLD ENGLAND

By the Associated Press
LONDON.—(By mail.)—Race riots in the northern part of England and Wales have created a stir throughout the country, principally because of the novelty of such occurrences in these islands.

Normally there are few negroes or aliens with colored skins to be seen in Great Britain, but the exigencies of war caused the importation of a large number of them to work on seaport docks and to recruit the ranks of manual laborers depleted by the call for fighting. They were brought from various parts of the world, South Africa and the West Indies supplying the bulk of them. Many Arabs also were imported.

Reparation of these colored men has been slow, with the consequence that many demobilized British soldiers have had what to them seemed the bitter experience of seeing strangers engaged at profitable employment while they, themselves, looked in vain for work.

Resentment over this state of affairs quickly developed into hatred when the soldiers observed that the strangers were trying to cultivate the acquaintance of white girls. A number of negroes took white wives.

A medical officer in the troubled district describes the situation as very serious both from a health and economic point of view, and asserts that 40,000 demobilized men are still without employment while negroes are employed. "Is this not a gross injustice?" he asks. "It is nothing less than iniquitous that the men who have fought for their country should find the jobs they need occupied by negroes."

"We are short on small packers. Those having these packers please put in a conspicuous place where they can be seen from the street, so we can gather them up. Rounds will be made Friday and Monday.—Ada Ice Cream Company."—7-17-3f

J. W. Davis reports the sale of one Overland car to Mr. Agee, near Bebee, on last Saturday.

W. N. Wray and J. M. Coleman of the Ada Motor Company are transacting business in Allen this week.

Ada Motor Company reports no sales within the last week, but an assurance was given the reporter of lots of news next week.

Grant Irwin is expecting a car load of Buicks today. Mr. Irwin reports no sales during the last week, but he is quite confident that business will pick up as soon as this delivery is made today.

"Old Dragus" is geared up in high and stands with his nose in the air rearing to show his quick speed at a minute's notice.

Cooper-Cox Garage has not opened their new show-room as yet, on account of not being able to get lights installed, but they are expecting to make this final completion soon.

Another improvement at the Cooper-Cox Garage in the way of machinery is the welding apparatus, complete with cutting attachments, which was installed Thursday.

Cooper-Cox are expecting a car-load of Maxwells to arrive today.

W. E. Harvey, local agent for the Ford car, received a car load of Fords on last Saturday from which the following deliveries were made on the following Monday, the 14th: T. O. South, Tyrola, one touring car; P. A. Norris, Ada, one touring car; W. J. Scrivner, Stonewall, one touring car; H. C. Nabors, Roff, one touring car; B. W. Davis, Ada, one touring car; Ed Wendel, Ada, one touring car; J. W. Sweat, Ada, one touring car; Sam Overon, Ada, one Ford truck.

Mr. Harvey states that orders had been placed for everyone of the above sales prior to the arrival of the cars. He is expecting another car load of Fords next Monday or Tuesday, and his suggestion is "place your order early in order to avoid the rush."

The News is making an effort to make an automobile feature that will be worth reading and one that will justify the effort, yet it seems like an up-hill job. This is due to the fact that the garages and dealers throughout the city are not taking advantage of their opportunities. Some time ago we visited every garage in the city which is an agency for cars of any variety and asked them to furnish us each week with a list of their sales and the general news of their business. This is just that much free advertising for them and it was offered without the outlay of a single cent on their part for the reason that we wanted to build up an automobile feature for the News, just as all other progressive papers have done. Would you believe that the majority of the dealers actually neglect to furnish us these items? Would you believe that some of them actually forget to take advantage of the opportunity to get all that free advertising? Well, they do, and if the department which we style "Automobile Activities" is a failure, you can attribute it to the dealers who are fiddling while Rome burns and not to the News which has offered them the space gratis.

FREE RIDE TO BASE BALL PARK

The management of the Ball Club has made arrangements for free transportation to and from the ball park Sunday, July 20th. In doing this it is necessary to raise the price of admission from 25c to 35c; grand stand and parking room for cars free. Ladies will be admitted free for this game.

Allen is coming with a strong line-up and with a determination to win another game from the local boys, but the home team is wide-awake to the fact and are just as determined as their opponents. A good game is assured.

MANY PUPILS WILL GO ON TRIP TO EUROPE

A large number of the Normal pupils appeared yesterday in answer to prof. R. G. Sears' statement regarding a trip to Europe he will make in the summer of next year. The trip was a subject of general conversation among the pupils.

Prof. Sears has been contemplating this trip for some time. It was his intention to go this summer but on investigation he found that the devastated areas are not ready for travelers yet so the trip was postponed a year. The trip will be a study trip, and the pupils who go will be given credits the same as if they were here in the Normal. The subjects to be studied are French and English history, modern or current history, Shakespeare and the battlefields. Mrs. Sears will also go on the trip and other married couples from this and other cities. The trip will last from June 15th to the first of September. The party will go first to London, then to Paris where they will remain and study for a period of three weeks. They will then go to the battlefields and visit the graves of American soldiers who died in the service. Countries to be visited are England, France, Germany, Belgium, Holland and Switzerland. The trip will not be expensive, the railroad fare from Ada to Paris and return amounting to about $300. There will be thirty in the class in addition to the married couples and chaperones.

The following applied to Prof. Sears yesterday to be included in the party. Some of them may drop out, which will permit others to take their places:

Flora Summers, Maxwell.
Norris Cromer, Paoli.
Frieda Martin, Ada.
Caroline Prewette, Ada.
Oma Laird, Ada.
Josephine Purvine, Okmulgee.
Reba Martin, Ada.
Ethel Blanton, Fillmore.
Robert Chase, Seminole.
Grace Spaulding, Konawa.
Reta Son, Milburn.
Cora Coleman, Pond Creek.
Harvey Reading, Beggs.
Iva Allred, Stratford.
Sylvie Catron, Byars.
Clara Stavelly, Shawnee.
Anna Cottingham, Stonewall.
(Miss Cottingham's brother was killed in the service and she will visit his grave.)
Grace Rushing, Milburn.
Emma Milburn, Milburn.
Edith Keehn, Boynton.
Ethyl Bleeker, Wewoka.
Oma Balthrop, Ada.
Abbie Cromer, Stratford.

Attention, Baptists.

Baptists have lined up fine in the meeting, but we can do better. I am exceedingly anxious to see one hundred Baptists on the choir platform tonight at 8:15 at the Tabernacle. There is room enough there for 300 people and I want to see the Baptists fill one-third of it tonight at 8:15. Be on time and go immediately to the platform. The fight is on—let every Baptist who bears the name get into it.—C. C. MORRIS, Pastor, First Baptist Church.

HAM TOLD HOW LOT PLAYED HYPOCRITE

had his covetousness aroused and started on the road to ruin.

Must Avoid Quarrels.

Quarrels church members should get a lesson from the quarrel of the herdsmen of Abraham and Lot and its results. In this wicked world, the realm of the rule of Satan, church members, like Abraham and Lot, are outnumbered by surrounding neighbors, and they can't afford to quarrel. Again, that quarrel revealed Abraham as a God-fearing, unselfish, generous soul. It also revealed Lot as a crafty, cold-blooded driver of sharp bargains, even at the expense of the uncle to whom he owed all that he was.

After Abraham had delivered Lot and his family and the captive kings of Sodom and the other cities of the plain they wanted him to take all the spoil and leave them only the prisoners for slaves. But Abraham refused to take even so much as a shoe string. He would not defile himself with the rotten old tainted stuff. God was his riches. But the fact that he had rescued the people of Sodom from captivity made Abraham very popular among its people, and this popularity lapped over on his nephew, Lot, and led to his election as judge and mayor. But that only tightened the devil's grip on him. The devil is always glad to get a church member entangled in his net in order to shut his mouth and kill the power of his testimony, and at the same time give respectability to his gang.

When Lot's family got into high society they became as low morally as they were high socially. And the devil blinded them to the evil they were engaged in, just as he does you today. You say you see no harm in dancing; you are blind.

The angels sent to destroy Sodom gladly accepted the hospitality of Abraham's tent, out on his ranch; but it took much persuasion to get them to enter beneath the roof of Lot's Godless mansion in the city, even though he was judge and mayor. Knowing that Lot would bore them to death about what a progressive and attractive city Sodom was, they preferred to spend the night camped in the street, rather than have to listen to his hot air about the rotten old town. And when the rabble appeared, demanding their surrender, Lot, the popular judge and mayor, hadn't influence enough in the town to command the respect of its people for the guests beneath his roof.

Wife, have you lived such an inconsistent life before your husband that when you talk to him about salvation you seem to him as one that mocks? Father, mother, have you lived lives so inconsistent that when you talk to your children about becoming religious you seem to them as one that mocks?

We will have with us an expert piano tuner and repair man the first of the week. Anyone needing such work Phone Ada Music Co. 446 before Tuesday for appointment. 7-18-21
